

Assistant Professor of Biology

The Department of Biology at Lander University, a public comprehensive university in the Upstate region of South Carolina, comprises a cohesive and forward-thinking faculty who deliver an outcomes-based curriculum that has been carefully aligned with the goals of the AAAS Vision and Change initiative.

Our department seeks to hire an assistant professor to begin January 2025 or August 2025 with training to complement our current diverse range of expertise. Teaching responsibilities may include service courses for other majors (general biology, human anatomy, human physiology, and microbiology); introductory courses for biology or medical biology majors, and at least one upper-level majors' course.

The ideal candidate will share our passion for innovative teaching using high-impact practices. The candidate is expected to maintain an active research program involving undergraduate students and engage in service to the department, college, and university, as well as academic advising.

Contract period is nine months. Normal teaching load is 12 contact hours each semester. Minimum qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in biological field and demonstrable aptitude for teaching biology at the college level. Excellent oral and written communication skills are essential. Salary determined by experience. Application letters should explicitly address the qualifications and desired aptitudes outlined above.

Send application letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching philosophy; copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts; and the names, addresses, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of three references in Word or PDF format to Dr. Jennifer Yates, Dean, College of Science and Mathematics at jyates1@lander.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2024, and continue until the position is filled.

Lander University is a tobacco-free campus.

All final candidates are subject to successfully completing background requirements.

Lander University is committed to equal opportunity employment and being an employer of choice. Lander believes that corresponding differences within the faculty and staff, whether based on ethnicity, race, gender, religion, age, or other experiences, are tremendous assets to the role of Lander as an educational institution and within the community, region, and state. Moreover, Lander is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. As a result, it is the policy and commitment of Lander that it will not discriminate based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or other protected characteristics.
