

Adjunct Faculty, Exercise Science

The College of Nursing, Human Performance, and Health Science invites applications for adjunct faculty (part-time) in our School of Nursing with expertise in pathophysiology and experience teaching beginning nursing students how to apply knowledge of pathophysiology in scenario style assessments. The course is taught in-person on Tuesday and Thursday with one section offered at 8:00 AM and another at 10:00 AM on our Lander campus, with some limited opportunities to teach online courses.

Minimum Qualifications: Master's degree in nursing or relevant discipline. University teaching experience preferred. Send letter of application via mail, vitae/resume, and unofficial copy of transcripts to Ginny Leopard, gleopard@lander.edu, 320 Stanley Avenue, Greenwood, SC 29649. Official transcripts and a satisfactory background check will be required upon hiring.